Meet Our Hospital Nursing Department

"Nurses serve their patients in the most important capacities. We know that they serve as our first lines of communication when something goes wrong or when we are concerned about health." – Lois Capps, Nurse and Retired Member of Congress.

Here are profiles of three nurses serving in your hospital:

Theresa Carrow, LPN

A mid-life change of careers brought Theresa Carrow into hospital nursing in 2015 and promises to expand her horizons even further. "I was a pre-kindergarten teacher for 13 years but I always wanted to be a nurse. I am studying for my bachelor's degree in nursing at North Central Texas College. I would like to do medical mission work in the U.S. and other countries."

She is a Licensed Practical Nurse on the weekend night shift.

Kim Collins, RN

Kim Collins, an accomplished career nurse, is in her 13th year of service here. The pharmacy nurse supervisor has extensive prior experience as a certified trauma nurse and certified ER nurse. She has worked in intensive care, outpatient obstetrics-gynecology, and hospice.

She teaches in the nursing program of North Central Texas College. She mentors the student nurses on their rotation through our nursing floor and emergency room.

Jennifer Hicks, APRN-CNP

Jennifer Hicks finally has some free time. After mixing part-time schooling with full-time RN duties for the past four years, the veteran nurse has completed bachelor's and master's degrees in nursing and has earned licensure as a family nurse practitioner. Hicks has been an RN for 17 years, all in the Mercy system, the past 7 years with our hospital. Her immediate plans are to gain nurse practitioner experience treating children at an Ardmore clinic.
